Program

One year ago I started jumping up and down when Autumn Kersey gave me the phone call that I'd be directing the 2009 summer musical. She believed in me enough to have given me this amazing opportunity and I thank her, along with the entire board of BLT, from the bottom of my heart.

From that moment, I contemplated putting on various different shows, but "Annie, Jr." seemed the most appropriate. I know now that I made the right choice as I have fallen in love with this story in a way I never quite did as a child.

Thank you to the kids who put in so many hours. Thank you to those who gave up family vacations so that you could be at rehearsals. Thank you to my understudies who went out of their way to be at extra rehearsals and to learn twice as much as everyone else. Thank you Jim for working with such a complicated set design and for making my number one request -- the spiral staircase -- happen. Thank you to all of my actors for working so hard and for having patience with your stressed out "Team Annie" leaders.

Thank you parents for driving back and forth every night -- especially those of you who faced massive road-work! Thank you Elia for giving up pretty much all of your summer nights to be at rehearsal. I don't know what I would have done had I not had an Annie as reliable as you. Thank you Allison, Shelby and Graham for taking on such difficult roles and for being willing to work with your directors who push, push, pushed you. You are amazing actors and I was lucky to have worked with you. Thank you to all of my orphans. You have the work ethic of professional actors; that is incredible to find in community theater. Thank you Kim, Cheryl, Ana, and Stephanie for all of the hours you put into this show. The set is fantastic, the costumes beautiful, the music lovely and choreography superb. Thank you Kyle and Erin for being my backbone, support and sanity throughout this entire process. I love you two more than you could possibly know and this show would not be what it is without you. And finally, thank you Lora for everything you have done as my stage manager. Despite all of the crazy schedules we dealt with this summer, I always knew, night after night, I could rely on seeing you at the theater ready to do whatever needed to be done. You're the best. Thank you all.
